OFFSHORE BRAZIL 2013

Special supplement bound in to the World Oil September 2013 issue

Brazil is implementing an ambitious plan for 2013–16 to improve the efficiency of its Campos basin fields and begin production from its massive pre-salt finds in the Santos basin. The domestic production target for oil, liquids and natural gas for 2016 is 3 million boepd. Over this time period, the exploration and production segment in Brazil will invest $131.6 billion, of which 69% will be allocated to production development, 19% to exploration and 12% to infrastructure. Investment in the pre-salt cluster will account for 51% of total E&P investment.

The realization of this plan will require significant contributions from international operating company partners, service companies and equipment manufacturers. Among the challenges will be the construction of massive deepwater drilling and production facilities, FPSOs and related infrastructure and developing practical solutions for formation evaluation of the complex carbonate fields, drilling through salt, and producing oil and gas that may be intermingled with a corrosive CO₂ gas stream.

WORLD OIL'S SEPTEMBER ISSUE WILL INCLUDE A SPECIAL SUPPLEMENT ON THE CHALLENGES & OPPORTUNITIES OFFSHORE BRAZIL:

Technical articles, written by operating companies and service companies, include case histories on a variety of exploration, drilling and production topics.

WHAT'S NEW FOR OFFSHORE BRAZIL

This is an opportunity for service providers and equipment manufacturers to submit their new products and services announcements for the offshore Brazil market.
